

Introducing “African Integration Review”

The African Integration Review is a multidisciplinary peer-reviewed bi-lingual journal published bi-annually by the Economic Affairs Department of the African Union Commission (<http://au.int/en/dp/ea/content/african-integration-review>). It is published for the discussion of a wide-range of integration issues with a particular focus on the theory of integration and its application to problems facing Africa.

Editors and Reviewers

African Integration review is seeking qualified researchers to join its editorial team as reviewers. Kindly send your resume to fetung@africa-union.org.

Call for Research Papers

African Integration Review is open to all theoretical and applied research orientations on the regions and countries of Africa. It covers all areas of integration issues. It is currently accepting manuscripts for publication in both English and French. The African Integration Review will consider theoretical papers, particularly if they offer an innovative interdisciplinary analysis. Priority will be given, however, to empirical researches and to case studies having implications on integration encounters throughout the Continent and on the planning and development policies. The review will also accept short articles that present experiences or personal points of view on one or several aspects of the practices or on current policies of international development.

Areas of interest include: aid and trade, regional disparities and agrarian reform, development administration, education planning and human resource development, industrialization and transfer of technology, environmental issues, human rights and democratization issues, urbanization and women in development and governance.

Our objective is to inform authors of the decision on their manuscript approximately within two months of submission. Each manuscript is submitted to at least 2 reviewers. Following acceptance by two reviewers, a paper will normally be published in the next issue.

Guide to authors and other details are available on our website; www.au.int

Scientific Committee

The evaluation mandate is given to the members of the Scientific Committee (SC) of the African Integration Review, constituting of distinguished professors and academicians from all over African universities. The (SC) will take in meetings of the Scientific Committee, which will be held twice a year, in order to insure the continuous credibility of the Review.

Editorial Policies

All articles submitted to the African Integration Review are assessed anonymously. Multiple submissions are not accepted. Once a paper has been accepted for publication, it may not be withdrawn by the author without consulting the editor. Prospective authors should send their manuscript to fetung@africa-union.org.

African Integration Review is an Open Access Journal

One key request of researchers across the world is unrestricted access to research publications. Open access gives a worldwide audience larger than that of any subscription-based journal and thus increases the visibility and impact of published works. It also enhances indexing, retrieval power and eliminates the need for permissions to reproduce and distribute content. It is fully committed to the Open Access Initiative and will provide free access to all articles as soon as they are published.

We invite you to submit your manuscript and support this initiative by publishing your papers in this journal. www.au.int
